BANISH THOSE GRAY HAIRS!
Kill the Dandruff Germs—Stop Hair Falling

Thousands of mothers are looking younger. Their gray hairs are gone. The natural color has come back, and with it a new growth of soft, glossy, luxuriant hair. Why should you look old before your time, when you can look years younger by using

It is Positively Guaranteed to Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color
If other "so-called" Restorers have failed, don't give up hope, but give WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY a trial. You run no risk. If it is not exactly as represented, your money will be refunded.

Gray Hair Restored
My hair was getting gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

SPORTS
LONG SHOT
WINS RACE

A goodly number of the fair sex turned out yesterday afternoon at the Fair Grounds track as the guests of the racing association, the day being the last Ladies' Day of the meeting.

The afternoon was characterized by glorious weather, and fine sport, all of the races resulting in spirited contests and in a majority of cases in close and exciting finishes.

The track had dried out somewhat, and fairly good time was made in the different events, notably the fourth race, in which Balronia, the winner, reeled off the five furlongs in 1:04, which is remarkably fast time over a lumpy and drying out track.

Balronia, in winning this event, ran the best race she has run over the local track. She was capably handled by Buxton, who took her to the front on the first turn, and on the backstretch the filly made a show of her field, and came home well in hand. Tube Rose, under restraint the first half, came with a rush in the final sixteenth and easily disposed of On Parole for the place.

Alivia, the favorite in the opening race, had things all her own way after three parts of the distance had been covered, and came to the judges first in a big gallop, while Voltrome just managed to get up in time to nip the place from Salomy Jane, which had lots of early speed, but quit under punishment.

Aronaut, carrying the colors of Billy Cahill, scored a handy victory in the second race, which was for horses that had not won at the meeting. Argonaut attracted a big play and was heavily backed. After he had disposed of Lady Adelaide on the first turn he forged ahead and thereafter the result was never in doubt. Camera hung on tenaciously and was rewarded with the place, with Lady Adelaide third.

For a horse that met with all kinds of bad luck, Busy Man, running in the colors of Mrs. Jenkins, certainly ran a grand race. Despite the fact that he was shut off several times and was jumped upon, he never faltered and under Gangel's skillful handling moved up on the turn for home, and in a terrific last sixteenth drive outstripped Burning Bush and Bill Mayham, the trio only being separated by short heads at the end.

Hammeraway scored a hollow victory in the fifth race, after racing All Alone into submission coming home first in a big romp. All Alone got the place, with Yellowfoot third. Zick Abrams set a fast pace for a quarter of a mile, only to drop back when the real racing began.

Everybody on the track was glad to see Bill Trapp's Cavallena win the closing race, as it was the first race won at the meeting by the popular turfman. Cavallena trailed her field, and after Alaxie and Harry Stanhope had run themselves into the ground she came on the outside and running over her field managed by a great effort to get her nose in front at the end. Spring Ban got the place a head in front of Alaxie.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Victory perched on the banner of the New York Americans today, when they passed the Nationals in the last two innings of a well played contest and won the second game of the post-season series, 5 to 4.

It was a pitchers' battle between Wilts and Myers, and honors were fairly even until the last two innings, when under a storm of American hits Wilts weakened and lost control. The score:

Nationals.....4 6 1
Americans.....5 8 3
Batteries—Wilts and Myers; Warhop and Mitchell.

STREET SIGN WORKER
HAS NASTY FALL

Missing his footing as he was working on the electric sign over the doorway of the Colonial theater at Salt Lake about 1:30 o'clock yesterday, Fred B. Arbogast, formerly of Ogden, crashed through the glass canopy at the entrance of the theater and fell to the sidewalk below, alighting on his head.

At once a crowd of the theater ran to him and picked him up and took him to the hospital. City Surgeon Sprague came quickly and administered treatment. He found that Arbogast had sustained serious concussion of the brain, besides many cuts from the glass as he fell through the skylight.

Arbogast and Albert Holbrook were working on the sign, taking down the letters announcing that "Going Some" was playing at the theater. Arbogast stood on a piece of planking stretched across the canopy. Holbrook was taking from him the letters as they were lowered to the ground. Suddenly without any intimation the board slipped and Arbogast lost his balance, stepped through the glass on the roof of the canopy and with the crash of breaking glass fell to the ground.

M. W. Wilson, connected with the Max Florence interests, was passing at the time. He heard the crash of the glass and looking up saw Arbogast falling. He rushed to him and with several men employed at the theater helped place him in the ambulance.

Dr. Sprague, after his examination, stated that Arbogast had sustained a serious concussion of the brain and internal injuries. He was removed to St. Mark's hospital in a carriage.

RESULTS TELL

There Can Be No Doubt About the Results in Ogden.

Results tell the tale. All doubt is removed. The testimony of an Ogden citizen can be easily investigated.

What better proof can be had? Thomas W. Wooten, 732 Barlow Lane, Ogden, Utah, says:

"For years I was in misery from pains across the small of my back and every little while I was compelled to lay off from work for two or three days. Often when straightening after stooping, the pain was so acute that I was forced to cry aloud. The kidney secretions passed too frequently and when being voided were accompanied by a scalding sensation. I tried nearly every kidney remedy on the market, but was not helped until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from BACON'S PHARMACY. The contents of two boxes benefited me in every way and by the time I had used four boxes, I was completely cured. My cure is all the more remarkable, considering the fact that I cannot express myself too strongly in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills." (Statement given Nov. 21, 1907.)

GOOD WORK

Mr. Wooten was interviewed on July 28, 1909 and he added to the above: "I can still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills in the highest terms, as my cure has been permanent. I have no objection to the continued publication of my former testimonial."

BEERS PLEASES
LARGE AUDIENCE

Newton Beers, the gifted author and impersonator of Boston, Mass., entertained a large gathering at the First Methodist church last night by his graphic presentation of parts from Enoch Arden, David Harum and The Merchant of Venice. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Epworth League.

The program of the evening was enhanced by musical numbers in which some of Ogden's most gifted vocalists and instrumentalists took part. As a whole the program was most interesting and the audience showed its appreciation by many outbursts of applause.

Prof. Beers was introduced by the new pastor, Rev. F. V. Fisher. The impersonator was a man past middle age, but while the years have whitened his hair they have not robbed him of any of his vigor and freshness of voice and in his acting is all the strength and impetuosity of youth.

His first impersonation was that of Enoch Arden, the hero of Tennyson's great idyl of the sea, in which he rose to the sublime. In this interpretation he was assisted by Miss Rosalie Holberg, Miss Lulu Mitchell, N. O. Ogden and A. R. White, who furnished the music and songs incidental to the poem. These songs came softly from behind a screen as though from the fingers of the actor.

In the musical interlude between

After the

with its tiresome routine of duties, the jaded nerves and brain need a strengthening tonic

NOT a stimulant, mind you. NOT an alcoholic beverage that spurs to renewed energy for the moment. But a real FOOD that actually BUILDS UP the exhausted brain-cells and tissues.

Becker's Best Beer is a true temperance drink, containing less than 3 1-2 per cent alcohol. And in it are the rich, easily digested elements that quickly and surely renew wasted energies and bring body and brain back to the normal, natural feeling of energy and vigor.

Becker's Best is brewed right here in Ogden. We'd like to show you HOW it is brewed—how clean and wholesome the brewing processes are.

By those who set aside all prejudices and pre-conceived notions and judge SOLELY ON REAL MERIT, Becker's Best is generally conceded to be better than any other beer, brewed ANYWHERE, regardless of price.

Any Ogden dealer will supply you.

the first and second parts of Prof. Beers' work, Miss Rosamond Laird rendered a violin solo with most masterful execution. Miss Holberg gave a vocal solo in her most pleasing manner and was awarded with much applause, as was also Miss Laird.

Perhaps Prof. Beers' most popular character portrayal is that of David Harum, the Yankee of Edward Noyes Westcott's well known novel. Mr. Beers presents the Christmas scene in which David Harum talks to the widow, tells her the story of his youthful trip to the circus and the part her husband had played in his life. He ends by returning to her the mortgage which she thinks he intends to foreclose. It is a scene which calls for an unusual degree of dramatic talent and the impersonator handled it splendidly.

His last impersonation was that of The Merchant of Venice. In this he carried through the entire fourth act of the great Shakespearean comedy, portraying each of the characters. The scene is that of the court room in which Shylock demands the pound of flesh, and Portia, disguised as a barrister, pleads for the life of Antonio. The piece is a difficult one and not many actors would care to attempt to carry it through alone handed, yet Beers is altogether equal to the task.

The entertainment concluded with the singing of the national anthem, a most appropriate ending for a really superb entertainment.

BAUER ORDERED TO SEA DUTY

Sergeant O. M. Bowen has been appointed to take charge of the Utah district of the United States marine corps recruiting office in this city. He comes to Utah from Boise, in the Portland district, and succeeds Sergeant J. D. Bauer.

Bauer was recently released from duty in this district and instructed to proceed to Denver for duty, but the navy department at Washington has changed the plans by ordering him to proceed to Mare Island, Cal., for duty.

BANK CLERK WAS TOO SUSPICIOUS

Benjamin Akerman, who has been held in the city jail for the past two days on a charge of felony, alleged to have been committed in Nevada City, Cal., was released yesterday evening on advice from the sheriff of Nevada county, and with his wife continued the trip he was making to Denver when arrested.

Akerman was mighty glad to regain his liberty and was expressing his joy at again being master of his own movements as he drew on his heavy overcoat preparatory to leaving the jail.

Thrusting his hand in one of the pockets of the coat he drew out a paper, and when he saw what it was he came quite near swearing. The document was nothing less than a receipt for the payment of the borrowed money, and a paper that would have relieved him of all suspicion and much inconvenience had he not in his excitement over the arrest completely forgotten its existence.

On Akerman's arrest the Nevada bank and sheriff were wired, but it was not until today that the affair was straightened out and his release ordered.

The arrest was made at the instigation of the California bank officials, who, when Akerman left their city for Denver, imagined that something was wrong. In their zeal they erred, and the result was that an innocent man was forced to spend 48 hours in a narrow cell in this city, and an anxious wife was forced to remain alone in a hotel in a strange city to await the adjustment of the misunderstanding.

Mr. and Mrs. Akerman were overjoyed when they met after the release, and were voluble in their expressions of appreciation to the local police officials for the kindly treatment and many considerations shown them.

They left for the depot to continue their journey to Mrs. Akerman's mother's home in Denver, as happy as two children over their reunion and the lifting of the shadow of suspicion which had overhung them.

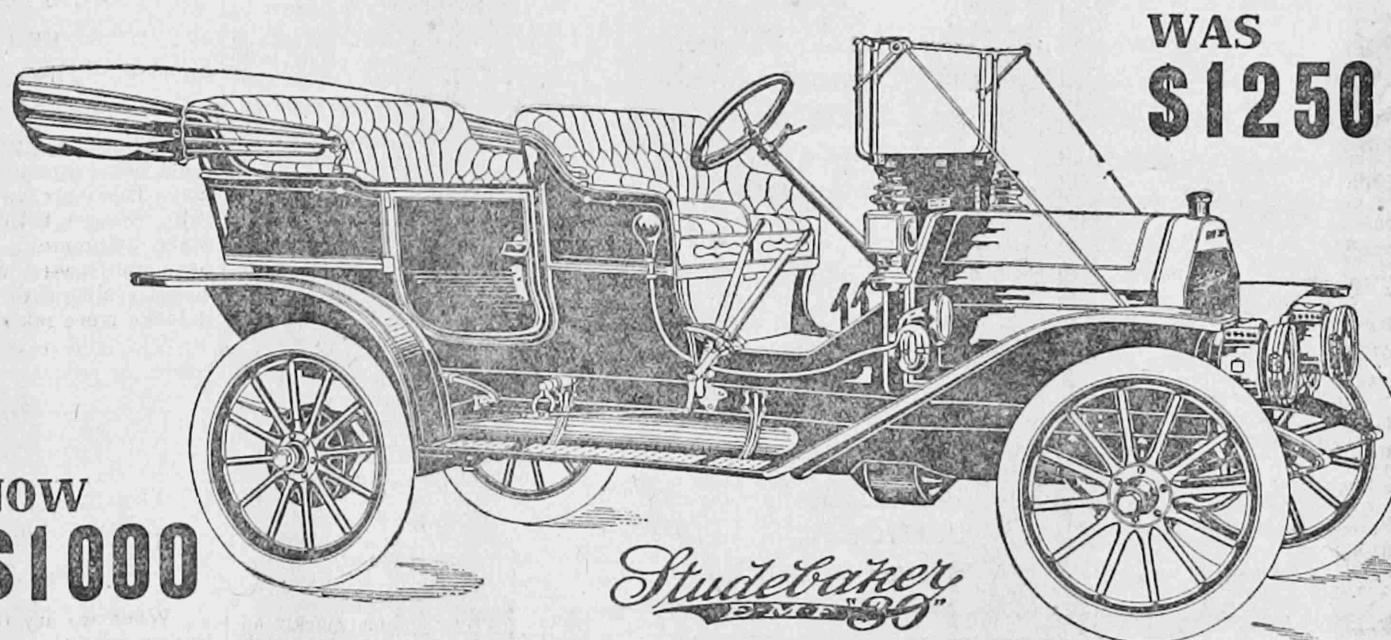

Mr. Akerman is the representative of a mining corporation which owns a $300,000 property in the California hills.
